DID YOU KNOW?

Community Hospital East was founded in the 1950s by east side residents who went door-to-door collecting nickels and dimes to bring quality healthcare close to home. Since then, Community Health Network has expanded to more than 200 sites of care across Central Indiana.

AMONG OUR MANY PATIENT-CENTERED PROGRAMS, DONORS AND GRANTORS SUPPORT:

Patient financial assistance for access to medicine, food, transportation and more

School-based nurses in more than 100 local schools, as well as behavioral health therapists and athletic trainers

Free car seats to ensure safe travel for little ones

Innovative support for pregnant women with substance use disorder and their babies facing Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome

Holistic programs like yoga, art therapy, massage and more for oncology patients

A scholarship fund to support African American caregivers in their pursuit of career and professional development and to bolster Community's efforts to increase diversity in key clinical and leadership roles

Free and low-cost health screenings and vaccines

Addressing unmet health-related needs for our neighbors — from interpersonal violence and emotional isolation to unstable housing and food insecurity — and connecting them to community resources to help

Grief, bereavement and trauma services for children

Financial assistance to Community caregivers and their loved ones facing emergency hardship or catastrophic illness

A food pantry in Lawrence

Community Fairbanks
Recovery Center

A special behavioral health crisis relief fund to help meet greatest needs, with a goal to expand access to care and help reduce barriers to wellness

Specialized and compassionate care for victims of violence, abuse and neglect

Patient programs at Community Fairbanks Recovery Center, helping more men, women and adolescents access treatment and find hope for recovery
